

Prada Nargesa S.L develops and implements an Innovation Management System in accordance with the requirements of the UNE EN ISO 56001:2024 standard, for the research, development and innovation of projects in the field of mechanical and electronic engineering for the manufacturing of industrial machinery, and adopts this Policy which represents the commitment to:

Comply with the requirements of the UNE EN ISO 56001:2024 standard and practice continuous improvement of the Innovation Management System through systematic actions of measurement, monitoring and analysis.

Align with the strategic purpose of Prada Nargesa, as well as with the Innovation Objectives. These objectives will be established annually within the continuous improvement process.

Comply with applicable regulations, especially those directly related to intellectual and industrial property, as well as with the commitments assumed through agreements and contracts with research centers collaborating with Prada Nargesa S.L in innovation activities.

Transmit the culture of innovation to all personnel by developing motivating work environments that promote and stimulate idea generation and innovative practices, assuming risk and recognizing creative contributions. Likewise, promote the internal dissemination of the knowledge generated, thereby fostering an optimal environment for creativity and scientific discussion.

Encourage, among the company's professionals, improvement and efficiency in management and the search for business opportunities that meet the new demands of customers and society in general. Thus enhancing those innovations that generate added value for customers, employees, other stakeholders, and society as a whole.

Promote training and study as the only means to participate in research, technological development, and innovation projects. Strengthen technological surveillance actions that allow Prada Nargesa S.L research groups to identify research questions and needs in their field of work, leading to new projects that contribute to improving citizens' quality of life.

The Management of Prada Nargesa S.L is committed to providing the necessary resources for the effective maintenance of the implemented Innovation Management System.
